How to Find Your Score

1. Beside each check mark on the preceding quiz, write the number of its corresponding points, as follows:

Category checked	Points scored
OFTEN	5
SOMETIMES	3
SELDOM	1

2. Transfer your points to the chart below. For example, if you checked Seldom for question 2, you would write 1 beside your check mark, then you would write 1 in the Points column beside question 2 below (because the Seldom answer scores 1 point).
3. Identify your highest score:
  - Visual Preference Score (VPS),
  - Auditory Preference Score (APS), or
  - Kinaesthetic Preference Score (KPS).

Interpreting the Results

This test should be used in conjunction with other diagnostic tools to help you determine some of the ways in which your students are best able to learn.

- Do discuss the scores with students, for example, at your first one-on-one conference.
- Most students show a “dominant” (preferred) and a “weak” (least preferred) learning style.
- Scores below 24 in any one of the three categories (Visual Preference Score, Auditory Preference Score, or Kinaesthetic Preference Score) are considered low and indicate a strong need for the student to develop strategies for maximizing the preferred style and managing the least preferred style.
- Scores of 32 or greater in all three learning styles (known as the eclectic style) indicate that the student can learn using all three styles.
